Perhaps never before has there been so attractive a Christmas display of toys, dolls, rubber balls, and a thousand and one things that appeal to the hearts of the little folks as is now being shown at the store of Reed Mercantile Company. Their sales room is a regular toyland and wonderland for the little folks. Nor is that all, there are a multitude of things dear to the feminine heart in the way of finery and a big, big lot of things that men want and need. Better go in and take a look at the fine display, it will do you good to look whether you buy or not.

The unusually open fall will prove a great help to our farmers in getting their stock through the winter. This, coupled with the fact that an unusually large crop of hay and grain was produced in this section this year, will to some extent help relieve the load farmers are carrying because of low prices for live stock and practically every thing produced on the farm.
